

Chapter 5.2

Completing Application Information Details: Oil and Gas Land Use

5.2 Land Tab

The Application Management System includes an application-level land tab to capture land information for an entire application (including land for each activity in the application). Each activity also has an associated land tab, to capture land information specific to each activity at the activity-level; which then populates into the application-level land tab. The Regulator uses this information to support various reviews carried out on an application, and to support tenuring of Crown land area, where required.
