Dear Dale Marshall,

Re: Draft Plan to Review B.C. Methane Regulations

On November 20, 2020, the BC Oil and Gas Commission (Commission) confirmed its intention to complete a review of its methane regulations in 2022. To facilitate the review, the attached draft review plan has been prepared. The Commission invites your organization to review it and welcomes written feedback on it by March 10, 2021.

Please note that this letter and any feedback materials received will be made public by posting them to the Commission's website.

We look forward to working together with you to achieve the Government of B.C.'s methane emission reduction target of 45% by 2025.

Sincerely,
